today was quiet, the cotion market seemed to be somewhat unsettled with prices working off under scattering liquidation and southern selling. The close was steady but from 3 to 7 points net lower.

The opening was steady at a decline of 3 to 5 points in sympathy with disappointing Liverpool cables. Houses with Liverpool connections were quiet active buyers at the start, and the market railled 2 to 3 points during be early trading. But the demand did not become general o raggressive and prices soon turned easter again under continued liquidation. An easier turn in New Orleans and some New Orleans selling orders helped the decline, which carried prices about 5 to 9 point's under yesterday's closing figures during the early afternoon. Private caples reported a quiet market in Liverpool and said the decline was in sympathy with a lower market for Egyption cotton. There was an impression around the ring here that Liverpool had also been influenced Listraddle selling against purchases in the local during early trading. Southern selling was considered hard. Southern selling was considered hardly active or aggressive enough to indicate any change in the spot situa-tion. Reports from the southwest claimed that the recent cold snap had been beneficial, as likely to reduce the damage from insects this summer, and there were also advices claiming that there will be plenty of seed for planting purposes in the Chairman Clark, of the in- O O O O O O O O O O O terstate commerce commission, quoted from Washington as saying that President Wilson had expressed no opinion regarding the merits of the freight rate case. Traders who had bought stocks on the theory that the matter was as good as settled hasily threw over their holdings and the market slumped swiftly. Much of the day's gain was lost although the market closed with a general showing of fair advances.

The weekly trade reviews reported Pressed Steel Car was strengthened by its annual report slowing a gain of $1,404,000 in net. Otherwise there was little to influence the course of the market, aside from the freight rates cases. London did little here today.

Love is the greatest word in any language—because it means more than any other word. It is elemental. It is screething felt, though undefined something known though unseen. Love is always ajourneying. Love is cumulative.

The greatest argument ever presented for belief in God is the one written briefly that "God is love,"

Fertilizing for Greater Profits

The great economic question in Agriculture is: "Does it pay?"
It is hardly worth while to deal with factors that show negative answers.
Broad practices like the use of commercial fertilizers on the farm are accompanied with large gains to the farmers or they would not be universally employed. Henry Ward Beecher says: "We believe that soil likes to eat as well as its owner, and ought, therefore, to be liberally fed."

In order to show how expenditures for fertilizers compare with expenditures for other purposes we give the following interesting facts:

There is no case on record where the application of fertilizers did not pay "vell on the investment."

What other business or material has such a universally good record?

The question is never: "Shall I use fertilizer?" but "How much?" and "How often?" and "What must I do to make the most out of the investment?"
